ANA Releases New GIB Manual

(TOPEKA) - The Glass Association of North America (ANA) announced today the release of its latest publication, ANA Glass Informational Bulletins, Volume One. The document, a compilation of its first 20 Glass Informational Bulletins (GIB) released to the industry from the technical experts within ANA, includes an updated version of the Designing Considerations for Laminated Glazing Applications GIB not previously released.

“This Manual packages 20 very different and valuable technical documents in one resource that industry members can put on their bookshelves for easy access,” said Brian Pitman, Director of Marketing and Communications for ANA. “By offering this resource in a print version, we address the needs of many in the industry who wish to have this technical information in a portable format.”

ANA published its first GIB in 2000, and is already at work on its next 20. Over the past eight years, several of the GIB’s have been reviewed and updated to stay current with industry trends and technologies. The GIB Manual is on sale for $25 to anyone in the industry on the ANA website at www.glasswebsite.com beginning today.

###

The Glass Association of North America provides the organizational structure for addressing the needs of a diverse membership. Comprised of the Building Envelope Contractors, Decorative, Flat Glass Manufacturing, Insulating, Laminating, Mirror and Tempering Divisions and an Affiliate Classification, ANA provides a forum for exchanging information and ideas and presenting a unified voice on matters affecting the glass industry and for developing the management and technical sophistication needed to remain competitive in a constantly changing business environment.
