An IUPAT & FCA Partnership

These are challenging economic times and the tools and resources gained from the annual LMCI Finishing Industries Forum (FIF) are needed now more than ever. If there was ever a year that our industry partners shouldn't miss this important event, this is the year!

This year's FIF is first and foremost the place where our industries meet for success. It's an extensive event, made up of plenary sessions and industry workshops featuring inspiring key-note speakers. The industry workshops are conducted by experts and designed to address current industry issues. Secondly, FIF provides you with the opportunity to network with your peers, industry professionals, and gain valuable knowledge about issues facing our industries.

Year after year, key union officials and company executives report that the No. 1 reason they return to FIF's annual event is for the unparalleled opportunity to meet one-on-one with other successful contractors and union officials in their industries. Whether it's networking at a social event, learning in the workshops designed with our industries in mind, or seeing and talking with peers about new and familiar products to help you work more efficiently day in and day out—you won't want to be anywhere other than FIF-5!

Guest speaker sessions are designed to appeal to every attendee. Listen to compelling plenary speakers offering challenges and new insights that will focus on key areas of industry development.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

Dr. James Canton, Business and Technology Futurist and Author

Dr. Canton will discuss how a series of radical trends and disruptions are reshaping health care and the effects on business models, standards of care, the management of disease and the redefining of the health care model.

Finishing Trades Institute: Advancing Apprenticeship into the 21st Century

This workshop will demonstrate the changes to the federal guidelines to registered apprenticeship programs. Hybrid systems, interim credentials, new curriculum and delivery methods are going to give labor and management strong tools to increase market-share and build their future workforce.

ULLICO Casualty - Risk and Surety Solutions for Contractors

This workshop will discuss Workers' Compensation solutions for contractors including the features and benefits of group captives. These alternative risk transfer programs allow small policyholders the opportunity to achieve potential risk reward typically only offered to larger policyholders. Surety bonds can be difficult to obtain across the country. More and more projects require surety credit, but few surety companies focus on small contractors. The session will discuss how to qualify for surety credit in the current market conditions.

Green/Sustainability: New Updated LEED AP Standards

Recently, many things changed in the world of LEED that affect professional credentialing as well as the certification of buildings. From the new tier system of accreditation to the updated credits available in v3, this session will shed light on those latest changes and inform you on how to move into the current system and gain the competitive edge by "going green".
