

For Immediate Release

September 7, 2007

Larry Livermore recently joined the staff of Architectural Testing as a senior project manager; he will also be responsible for business development. Larry will educate new and existing clients on the many services, locations, and staff of Architectural Testing, with special emphasis on forensic consulting, certification of installers, and Code Compliance Research Reports (CCRR) programs.

With more than 28 years of experience in the fenestration industry, Larry has worked with all types of fenestration products, manufacturers, suppliers, and industry associations. He has also served in several management capacities with responsibility for documents and standards, engineering, applications, product design, and testing. Larry adds significant expertise and depth of experience to the existing staff and overall operations of Architectural Testing.

Larry Livermore can be reached at the corporate headquarters of Architectural Testing in York, Pennsylvania, (717-764-7700) or by email (llivermore@archtest.com).
