

Patio Enclosures, Inc. Tony Bouquot, Elected President of National Sunroom Association

Macedonia, Ohio – January 10, 2008 - Patio Enclosures, Inc., the largest manufacturer and installer of sunrooms in North America, is pleased to announce that Patio Enclosures, Inc. Director of Engineering, Tony Bouquot, has been elected for a one-year term as president of the National Sunroom Association. The National Sunroom Association (NSA) is a member-directed trade association dedicated to the advancement of the manufacture and construction of safe, energy efficient and environmentally conscious sunrooms, patio rooms, and solariums. Although a wide diversity of products is manufactured under the category of sunrooms, there are many things NSA member companies have in common, drawing them together to address government, industry, media, and the public about issues of safety, energy-efficiency, and structural integrity. The NSA's primary focus at the outset has been to tackle code issues across the United States.

"Since its inception in 1997, the NSA has grown to become the voice of the sunroom industry in the building code arena," explained Tony Bouquot, Director of Engineering for Patio Enclosures, Inc. "My goal as president is to enhance that position by increasing our activity in the code development process."

The NSA changed management companies in January 2007. The new management company, Thomas Associates, brought a much stronger technical staff to the association. As a result, membership has increased 12% over the past year.

"My mission is to continue to grow membership while at the same time increasing participation by existing members," said Bouquot. "Companies join and participate in the NSA because they care about building safe, quality, code-compliant sunrooms. Consumers recognize the value in buying a sunroom from an NSA member company."
