Tracy Rogers Elected to Chair GANA Insulating Division

(TOPEKA) - The Glass Association of North America (GANA) announced today the election of Tracy Rogers, Technical Director of Edgetech IG based in Cambridge, OH, as Chair of the Insulating Division. The Division, comprised of insulating glass unit manufacturers and suppliers, elected Rogers to the position. He brings more than two decades-worth of experience and knowledge of the fenestration industry to the position.

“The GANA Insulating Division was formed in 2003 and is full of energy,” said Rogers. “We have many great opportunities in front of us, and I am excited to be able to work with a strong group of industry leaders to expand the scope of the Division.”

Rogers earned his Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering with graduate studies in Finance. He also has Master Certificates in Business Management and Advanced Marketing Strategy. While working in both the technical and sales/marketing segments of the fenestration industry, he has been Technical Marketing Manager for Schlegel, General Manager for ETC Laboratories, Director of Sales & Marketing for Amesbury Foam-Tite, Research & Development Manager for The Peachtree Companies and Business Development Manager for Intertek Testing Services before taking his current position with Edgetech IG.

Rogers is also actively involved with several industry associations including AAMA, WDMA, NFRC, IGMA and ASTM. In addition to chairing numerous task groups and committees for these organizations, he is also currently 2nd Vice President of the Glass Materials Council (GMC), Chair of the GMC Marketing Committee and Chair of the Insulating Glass Manufacturers Alliance (IGMA) Certification & Education Committee. He also currently holds five US patents relating to fenestration products.
