Thompson Creek Establishes New Company With 27 Year History

LANDOVER, MD -- Thompson Creek Window Company officially recognizes St. Claire Windows as its new multi-family window renovation company.

Thompson Creek has manufactured and installed windows for multi-family replacement (low and mid rise apartments, condominiums, etc.) for more than 27 years but beginning today all windows for this specific application will be made by Thompson Creek Manufacturing and then sold and installed under the company name St. Claire Windows.

“We are very excited about St. Claire Windows”, said Rick Wuest, President of both St. Claire and Thompson Creek. “We realize the tremendous opportunity ahead of us and we are focused on providing the best product to our customers. St. Claire allows us the ability to do this in both our commercial and retail marketplace,” says Wuest.

Since 1980, Thompson Creek has served both the retail and commercial market by manufacturing and installing its own brand of vinyl windows and doors, unlike most of its competition which outsources. In 2007, Thompson Creek was recognized in the top-50 of the nations top-500 remodeling companies.

Its new company, St. Claire, will focus on multi-family renovation projects working with property management companies in addition to general contractors and architects in the Baltimore-Washington metropolitan area.

“With St. Claire Windows we have a product that we feel is extremely competitive and unique to the marketplace, says Wuest. “We are very confident in our product because we control the process from start to finish. We are full service with sales, field measuring, manufacturing, field supervising, installation and product service.”

The company recently purchased an 80,000-square foot building in Landover, MD, that will be home to its manufacturing plant, offices and showroom for more than 200 employees.
